The appeal is made, within 21 days from the day on which the notice is served, to the magistrates' court for the area in which your premises is situated and may be brought on the grounds that you think that:

a. the service of an enforcement notice was based on an error of fact;

b. the service of the enforcement notice was wrong in law; and

c. the Office for Nuclear Regulation erred in the exercise of their discretion in serving the enforcement notice.

Without prejudice to the breadth of the grounds of appeal set out in paragraph (a) to (c) above, examples of situations in which an appeal may lie are where:

- a. You dispute any of the facts in the notice, which detail the steps, which have to be taken in order to comply with any provision of the Order.
- b. You think that an unreasonable time period has been set for the taking of the steps set out in the notice.

4. The Office for Nuclear Regulation may grant, at their discretion, an extension (or further extension) of time specified for the steps to be taken if an appeal against the notice is not pending. Application for an extension of time should be addressed to:- The Office for Nuclear Regulation [Type in address of ONR Office].

5. - or
- b. on conviction on indictment, to a fine or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or both.

6. In any proceedings for an offence referred to above, where the commission by any person of an offence under the Order, is due to the act or default of some other person, that person is guilty of the offence, and a person may be charged with and convicted of the offence whether or not proceedings are taken against the first mentioned person.

7. Nothing in the Order operates so as to afford an employer a defence in any criminal proceedings for a contravention of those provisions by reason of any act or default of an employee or person nominated to implement measures for fire-fighting and procedures for serious and imminent danger and for danger areas, and appointed to assist him/her in undertaking such preventive and protective measures as necessary.

8. Subject to Note 9, in any proceedings for an offence under the Order, except for a failure to comply with articles 8(1) (Duty to take general fire precautions) or 12 (Elimination or reduction of risks from dangerous substances), it is a defence for the person charged to prove that he/she took all reasonable precautions and exercised due diligence to avoid the commission of such an offence.

9. If you are the responsible person you are under an obligation to comply with the provisions of the Order of any regulations made under it. If you have failed to comply and you and the Office for Nuclear Regulation cannot agree on the measures which are necessary to remedy the failure(s), under Article 36 of the Order, you and the Office for Nuclear Regulation may agree to refer the question, as to what measures are necessary to remedy the failure(s), to the Secretary of State for a determination.

10. It should be noted that in order to satisfy the “Environment and Safety Information 1988” the Office for Nuclear Regulation is obliged to enter details of any enforcement notice into a register to which the public have access. If you feel that any such entry would disclose secret or confidential trade or manufacturing information then you should appeal in writing to the Office for Nuclear Regulation within a period of fourteen days following the service of the notice.

11. To assist with administration procedures, it would be helpful if you could quote the reference number (at the top of this notice) when dealing with the Office for Nuclear Regulation.

STANDARD TERMS AND DEFINITIONS

FIRE RESISTING (FIRE RESISTANCE): The ability of a component or construction of a building to satisfy, for a stated period of time, some or all of the appropriate criteria specified in the relevant British Standard.

INTUMESCENT STRIPS: A strip of material placed along the door edges (excluding the bottom edge), or frame, that will react to heat by expanding to form a seal to the passage of hot gases and flame.

SMOKE SEAL: A flexible strip of material (often used in conjunction with an intumescent strip) placed along the door edges or frame to limit the spread of cold smoke during the early stages of a fire.

SELF-CLOSING DEVICE: A device, which is capable of closing the door from any angle and against any latch fitted to the door. Rising butt hinges are not acceptable.

AUTOMATIC DOOR RELEASE: A device, linked to (or operated by the sound of) the fire alarm system, that when fitted to a fire resisting self closing door, enables it to be held open during normal working conditions.

EMERGENCY ESCAPE LIGHTING: That part of the emergency lighting system provided for use when the electricity supply to the normal lighting fails so as to ensure that the means of escape can be safely and effectively used at all times.

RISK ASSESSMENT: An organised appraisal of your activities and premises to enable you to identify potential fire hazards, and to decide who (including employees and visitors) might be in danger in the event of fire, and their location. You will then evaluate the risks arising from the hazards and decide whether the existing fire precautions are adequate, or whether more needs to be done. It will be necessary for you to record your findings (if you have five or more employees), and to review and revise when necessary.
